SCHOOL NOTES

Interesting Items by the County Superintendent.

To the pupils of Fulton County schools: Don't forget that next week we are asked to help build a new home for Kentucky's orphan children. This home is for the most unfortunate children, the ones who have no claim upon church denominations or lodges.

We have many calls for money but this is an appeal that will surely reach all types of people, the generous who are always ready to help unfortunate babies—whether French, Syrian or Chinese—and those who believe only in home missions, for there are children from this county in the present home.

Since its organization the Kentucky Children's Home Society has aided more than $1,000 children, and as fast as possible places them with reliable foster parents to be reared under the supervision of the Society.

At the present time the Society owns half of a city block. There are about two hundred children at the home. The play grounds are too small, the school rooms, dining room and dormitories are crowded and hospital facilities are inadequate. Imagine thirty boys sleeping in crowded quarters and having a play ground 30 x 60 feet. There are many babies there and these little fellows who have started life handicapped surely deserve our real sympathy which can best be shown by our assistance in giving them the nearest substitute for a real home.

Fulton county is asked for $2,000 to be raised by the school children. We are sure the children will do their part if they have the co-operation and help of the grown-ups.

It has been suggested that each teacher appoint a committee of larger pupils to collect money at some specified time next week.

Inez Luton, Superintendent.

MOST DECORATED

Corp. Graves, of Hickman, Wears Many Badges of Honor.

Corp. Phillip Graves, son of Mrs. Georgia Graves, who is spending his furlough with home folks, is doubtless the most decorated and most honored of Fulton county soldiers.

Young Graves is a corporal in Co. A, 18th Infantry, First Division. He has been in service about three years. He left the United States, June 14, 1917 and returned Sept. 3, 1919, going over with the first division. His division, of course, saw real service all through the campaign, being in the battles of Aisne-Marne, St. Mihiel, Meuse and Argonne Wood. He bears the scars of two wounds—a piece of shell in the neck and a bullet in the left arm—but has fully recovered.

Corp. Graves wears the Croix de Guerre—a decoration and personal citation for bravery awarded by the Field Marshal of France; also a regimental decoration from France. One citation papers date of "Seiters, Germany, June 1." He also wears four service stripes—and is one of only 500 men in the United States who has them. In addition to these he wears a Victory Medal and the bar of a crack marksman.

His term of enlistment will expire Nov. 10, but at present he is stationed at Camp Taylor. Phillip says he has had plenty of army life for the present and will return home as soon as released from service. Few, if any other Fulton county boys have seen as much service as Corp. Graves. He was in France during the "dark days," was in the bloodiest battles and fought under all kinds of conditions. Incidentally, he visited France, Belgium, Germany, Luxembourg, England and possibly other states of Europe.

DEEDS RECORDED

Land Transactions as Shown by the Records of Fulton County.

V. H. Adams and J. W. Dunham to Lynn Murry, lot in Rice Ad. Fulton, $1000.

Raymer Williams to Joe Morris, six acres land "east of old Boyer place," $700.

Wm. Stoker to Robert E. Stoker, lot 18 East Hickman, old Dora Smith place, $1, etc.

Mrs. Marguerette Bard to E. W. Stevenson, lots 10-11 in Norman Ad. Fulton, $400.

C. T. Bondurant et al. to J. F. Glidewell, lots 209-210-211-212 in block 7, in East Hickman, known as D. F. Morrison place, $2500.

J. F. Glidewell to John Orear, lot in East Hickman on Holly street, $1000.

W. W. Morris and Jno. E. Melton to Whayne Thomas, lots adjoining I. C. right-of-way in Fulton, $250.

E. B. Jones to B. P. Thompson, exchange of lots in Cayce for lots in Industrial League, valued at $1000.

R. R. Rogers to Mrs. Suley E. Stanford, 80 acres in upper bottom east of Goose Pond, $7000.

W. K. Hall to Cleveland Alexander, lots in Fulton, $600.

Dean McDade to his mother, Mrs. Susan F. McDade, 27 1/2 acres, love and affection.

H. A. Campbell and L. M. Ballow to Mrs. Bettie Williams, lot 3 in division of Duncan Campbell estate, $1.

J. L. Dotson to A. H. Kemp, 9 acres on Dyersburg road, $800.

OIL LOTS SELLING FAST.

J. W. Roney, looking after the business management of the Roney, Mitchell & Bruner sale of lots in their oil project in the Reelfoot region, tells us that the lots are selling like "hot cakes."

These 100-square-feet lots go at $10 each and the purchaser participates in any production from a well which the company guarantees to put down on its holdings.

It is such an attractive inducement to "take a shot on oil" that every mail brings the company orders for lots, from purchasers all over the country. There is little doubt that the entire layout will be sold in a short time, after which the drill will start.

A similar project was promoted in Lake county, in which hundred foot square lots were sold at $100 each, and, from an oil standpoint, not near so good as the offering of the Hickman company.

Although the State Fire Marshal has condemned some old shacks and fire-traps in Hickman, it is noticeable that they still stand, weathering the storm of condemnation and in defiance of all civic pride. Here's hoping the next city administration co-operates with the state in ridding the town of these eyesores.

J. T. Willey, of Fulton, and Miss Clara Richmond, formerly of that city but now of Henderson, Ky., were married at the latter place Sunday. They will make their home at Fulton.

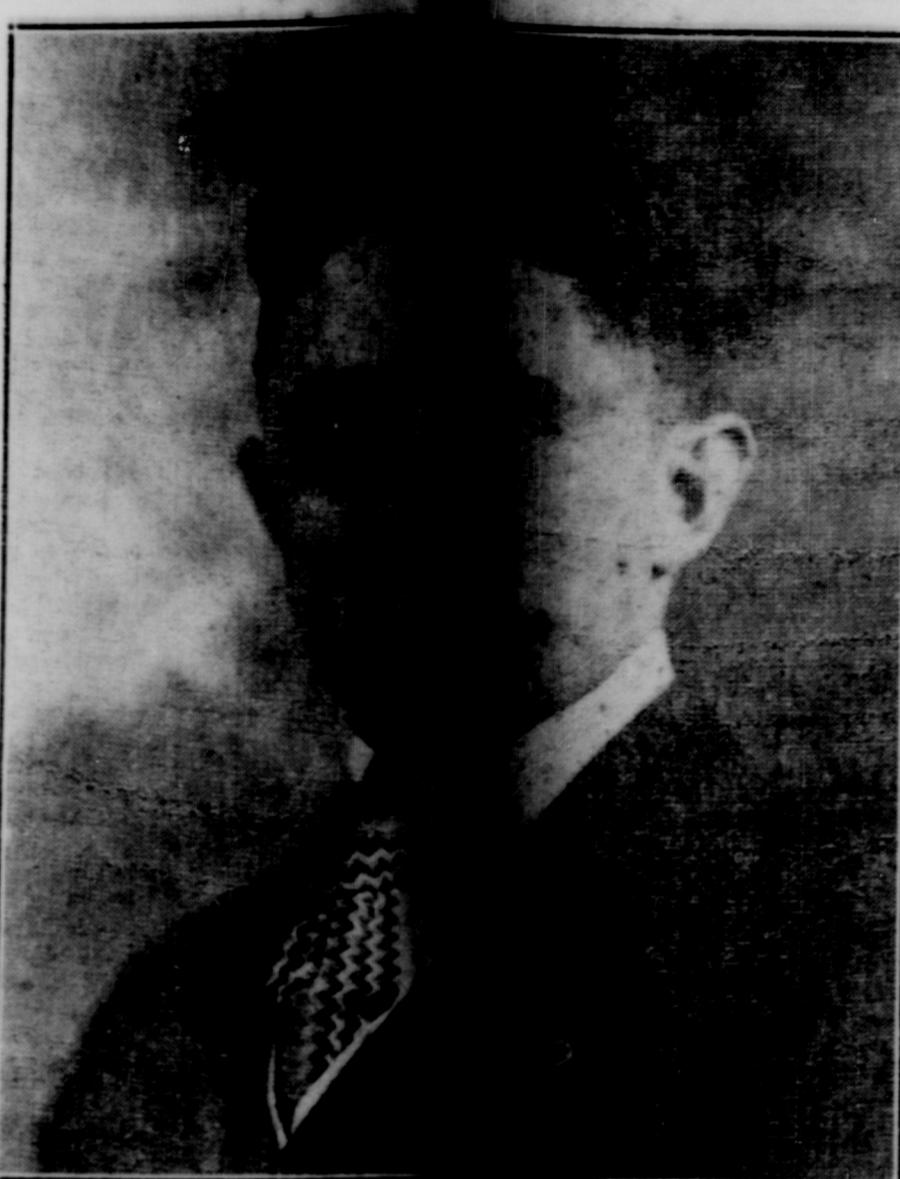

Mrs. Chas. Werner left yesterday for Centralia, Ill., to spend a week with her children, J. H. Werner and Mrs. H. J. Pollock.

There's a $2500 clock on the courthouse that's worth about 30¢ to the business part of town, being obscured by trees.

Beckham Bard, of Fulton, who disappeared in St. Louis last week, has been found. He enlisted in the navy.

We are the home of the Mayfield Woolen Mill pants—a guaranteed pant at $2.75. Sullivan Bros.

WILL RETIRE FROM RETAIL BUSINESS

CUT OFF SUPPLY

Fulton Merchant Cuts Flour Prices and Wholesaler Buys In.

In a letter from a Fulton merchant addressed to the Governor and referred to the Kentucky Cost of Living Commission, it is brought out that the dealers' efforts to assist the commission by selling at a low price resulted in a wholesaler refusing to sell him brands of flour dealt in by that wholesaler.

The name of the wholesaler is not given in the letter, and the commission withholds the name of the Fulton man.

The letter in part is as follows:

"To the Governor of Kentucky—I see you are investigating the high cost of living. I was handling a certain company's flour. Because I sold it too cheaply he took it away—would not sell any more to me. The same man is selling down in Mississippi. He was selling me flour for $11.95 and I got $12.40; his self-rising flour at $11.95 and I got $12.40; his peerless at $10.95 and I got $11.60, while others were getting 40 to 80 cents on the barrel. He was going too cheap to suit him. He cut me out."

The commission announces that it is investigating.

STEALS CLOTHES OFF LINE.

Last Friday night a thief stole nearly all the clothes off a line at the residence of Homer Provow, in West Hickman. Whoever it was knew what they wanted as all the baby's clothes were stolen, including stockings and underwear, while some clothes for larger children were left on the line. Some of Homer's clothes were also taken, as well as some of Mrs. Provow's.

AUTOMOBILE BURNS.

An Overland automobile owned by Erwin Bard was totally destroyed by fire Monday. The accident happened at the Beulah Switch railroad crossing two miles north of Fulton, and is supposed to have been caused by a short circuit or back fire from the engine.

Never have we been so well supplied with heavy merchandise to keep you warm and dry. Prices always right at Sullivan Bros.

FIX SUGAR PRICE

Gov't. Says Refiners Cannot Charge More Than 10¢ a Pound.

Steps to prevent an abnormal increase in the price of sugar because of the existing shortage were taken Tuesday by the Department of Justice.

Attorney General Palmer notified beet sugar refiners who have been withholding their products from the market until the price situation became more stabilized that the United States sugar equalization board had determined 10 cents was a fair price to be charged the wholesaler and that any charge in excess of that amount would be regarded as in violation of the food control act.

Refiners were asked to telegraph their concurrence in this price, which would mean they would put their supply on the market immediately, thereby relieving the present stringency.

The price to the wholesaler heretofore has been nine cents, so that the new price means an increase of one cent a pound. Retailers have been allowed to charge 11 cents a pound for controlled sugar under old prices. While the Department of Justice and the sugar board did not state what the new retail price would be, it was assumed that the increase would not be greater than the wholesale advance.

The shortage in Hickman has been acute for the past two weeks. Many families have had no sugar for a week or more, and the retail price here runs as high as 17 1/2 cents, with a limit of two pounds to a customer. The merchants say they are paying 14 cents a pound for sugar in St. Louis and are unable to secure more than one or two bags at a time; while some have had no sugar in stock in the past two weeks. The Wilson-Hale Wholesale Grocery, of this city, received a car of sugar yesterday, but this will be parceled out in very limited quantities and will not make a dent in the existing shortage.

59¢ FOR COTTON

Local Firm Gets Highest Price Ever Paid for Fulton County Cotton.

W. A. Johnston, member of the firm of the Johnston Land Co., Fulton Co. planters, showed us a sales ticket from a Memphis commission house where they had sold two bales for them at 30 cents a pound—on Friday's market. At that time the spot quotations were slightly under 23 cents, indicating that cotton of the pink variety.

This is no doubt the highest price ever paid for Fulton county cotton. The two bales brought $64.40—to say nothing of the seed.

With the largest crop we've had in this county in the past five years and prices up, planters and their co-workers should enjoy real prosperity this season.

PROTESTS RAISE

Evergreen Camp Adopts Resolutions; Asks State Meeting.

Evergreen Camp of the W. O. W., at Fulton, has taken the lead in protesting against the recent raise of rates in the order. The raise was decided on by the national convention recently held in Chicago and has aroused strong protests all over the country. The local camp is getting in touch with all the camps of the state and will call a general meeting for next Friday, Oct. 24. Resolutions adopted in the meeting there characterize the proposed raise as "illegal and unjustifiable." The Evergreen Camp has an active membership of 386, and is one of the strongest camps in the state.

Dr. J. M. Hubbard, Bob Tyler, Jim Mayes, Judge Will Amberg, Henry Helm and other local "nobles of the mystic shrine", are busy laying plans for escorting a class of a dozen or so of Hickman novices to Louisville on the 27th of the coming month to have them tread the hot sands of Shrineland. Kosair Temple, the big Shrine den at Louisville, announces a ceremonial dinner for Thanksgiving day. Practically all the red fez bunch at Hickman plans to go and will probably be picked up by a Shriners' special train at Fulton.

The city campaign is already warm and in the remaining eleven days indications are that it will grow hot. There are three candidates for mayor, eleven for councilmen and two for chief of police. The dear voter gets buttoned at every turn—and gets an occasional el stinko cigar. Things will change after Nov. 4th.

One of our readers wants to know what's become of the several thousand dollars, donated to put a second story on the new high school building? Don't know, reader; but that bunch of money is capable of pulling down several dollars per annum interest—and maybe you'll get a dividend later on.

Mrs. B. C. Stubbs, Miss Birdie May Rice and Mrs. Dee L. McNeill are spending the week in Memphis, the guests of Miss Dora McNeill.

O. B. Kerlin, of Clinton, spent Tuesday in Hickman.

CANDY

By the hardest, we have at last received a big shipment of high class candies.

You are certainly familiar with the existing sugar shortage, which also effects the candy-makers, and means a scarcity of candy later on—especially about Christmas time, when you will want it most. We believe it would be advisable to buy your holiday supply now and lay it away.

In our shipment this week we received

CHOCOLATE DIPPED NOUGATS
DIPPED MARSHMELLOWS
PLAIN MARSHMELLOWS
CHOCOLATE DIPPED CARAMELS
CHOCOLATE CHIPS
CHUSHED NUT CREAMS
CHOCOLATE PEANUT CRISPS
PINEAPPLE CREAMS
VANILLA CREAMS
RASPBERRY CREAMS
ORANGE CREAMS
MAPLE CREAMS
WHIPPED CREAMS
COCONUT CREAMS
MIXED CANDIES

Every candidate for city office should, for policy's sake, if nothing else, see that there are no dry goods boxes or other junk piled in front or behind his premises in violation of law. How shall the blind lead the blind?

From the way some white folks have been hauling negro voters to the voting precincts to register them, we would judge the "call'd voter" holds the balance of power in the coming city election; or did the G. O. P. hire certain Democrats to work for them?

One of our local insurance agents tells us that practically all new business or policies renewed for fire insurance in Hickman will be written at a reduction of about ten per cent under last year's rate. In the face of rising prices in all other lines, it's hard to believe the insurance companies would attempt to play the role of one good Samaritan among a million profiteers.

The change in school books this year not only are the parents of the children forced to dig up thousands of dollars but many of the books are not yet available. The books we have had to discard are every whit as good as the new ones, and about the only tangible result most of us can see is an additional h.c.o.b. burden, or a little more "gravy" for the publishers.

The United Charities Association of Hickman was in the act of closing a contract last week for a big carnival to play Hickman for the benefit of this organization, but were forestalled by the health and city authorities. The reason was the present epidemic of mumps. Hickman is noted for always having some pretext to bar outside amusements while our neighboring towns take off the lid occasionally and still survive. The cash drawer is one potent factor here.

The Culin Raincoat Co. is "laying low and sawing wood." This concern now has on hand over $10,000 worth of raincoats, which are to be waterproofed in a short time. They are having inquiries for their product from the four corners of the United States. One big concern wanted a quotation on 10,000 dozen coats. Get it? Some future before this company—plenty of business and good profits. Some of the guys that had "cold feet" when the company was organizing are now begging for a few shares and are willing to pay above par. But, there's none for sale.

PAY YOUR TAXES

Don't Wait Until Last Day; as You May be Disappointed.

I would advise taxpayers, who do not want to pay the penalty, to call and pay their county, state and school taxes now.

The books are more complicated this year than heretofore and I shall not employ any extra force to handle the business at the last minute, as I have been in the habit of doing. If you happen to be one of the "last minute" taxpayers and cannot get waited on, don't blame me, as you have ample notice. And those who have not paid by Dec. 1, 1919, will have to suffer the penalty; no exceptions. Pay now—it will save trouble for both of us.

Respectfully,
SWAYNE WALKER,
Tax Collector F. C.

RECENT announcement from Lake Division headquarters of the American Red Cross gives the dates of October 20, 21 and 22 for the three Lake Division state meetings of the American Red Cross.

Dr. Livingston Farrand, Chairman of the Central Committee, will speak in Lexington, Indianapolis and Cleveland, before gatherings of Red Cross chapter chairmen, executives and members who have been invited to hear Dr. Farrand detail the Red Cross peace service as it is being carried out.

According to Dr. Farrand, various kinds of Red Cross work are to be coordinated for service in American communities. Home Service, Nursing, First Aid, and Junior Red Cross work in communities will perpetuate the Red Cross name, emblem and service for humanity throughout America.

Letters received recently at Lake Division Headquarters give evidence that the needs of local communities not now taken care of, are to be the business of the American Red Cross as its peace-time work. Until the after-war work overseas is completed, the Red Cross is to function abroad. The Red Cross, concerned not alone with emergencies arising from sudden disasters, is planning to meet the continuing disaster of peace, the thousands of unnecessary deaths which occur yearly from preventable disease and epidemic.

Three hundred and sixty-five chapters with the thousands of branches and auxiliaries in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky, have been invited to send one or more delegates to attend the important meetings just announced.

Disaster Relief Still a Red Cross Service

If there comes to your town, Fire, Flood, Storm, or Epidemic, the American Red Cross will come too, bringing relief and supplies to tide you over the time of emergency. This service is to be part of the peace-time work of the organization for which public support is to be asked during the week of November 2-11, when the Third Roll Call for members is made by the organization.

There is need of preparedness against disasters, as statistics recently compiled at National Headquarters of the Red Cross show that since 1900 the disasters of peace-time at home have injured 1,500,000 people, dead 21,000,000, and over 100,000,000 have been called for in eighty disasters.

Under Red Cross direction the entire resources of all communities can be mobilized for almost instant use when needed. Three hundred and sixty-five Red Cross chapters in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky constitute preparedness committees which are to make surveys to locate food, hospital supplies, clothing, physicians and nurses, ready for emergency service. This information is to be filed by the thirteen territorial division offices of the organization and will make possible the establishment of disaster relief centers centrally located and prepared to cover trouble anywhere in the United States.

In cases where the emergency is too great for any one division to handle through its own relief centers, the entire relief strength of the Red Cross can be mobilized through National Headquarters. Disaster relief work, a traditional service to the Red Cross, is to be included in the peace-time plans for service to Americans now being worked out in the Lake Division.

Disaster relief work, a traditional service to the Red Cross, is to be included in the peace-time plans for service to Americans now being worked out in the Lake Division.

The American Red Cross is co-operating with the American Hospital Association to distribute 25,000,000 yards of gauze intended for military hospitals, to civil hospitals in the United States that are in need of supplies.

At the division warehouse there are 3,000 boxes of garments and supplies sent in from Red Cross Chapters. These will be distributed to hospitals as orders are received from the hospital association. Women who met during the war to make surgical dressings meet now to pack these cases.

In the distribution the past week twenty-five hospitals in Ohio received supplies, five in Indiana and two in Kentucky.

Twenty-Fifth Installment.

The nine Justices of the peace would seem now to have been sufficient to have preserved the peace and dignity of the state within Fulton county, but in 1847 by an act of the Legislature another Justice of the peace was authorized in Fulton county to reside in Madrid Bend. The act provided that Fulton county should have five constables and the County Court was directed to divide the county into five such districts.

The second Monday in each month was fixed as the County Court day for Fulton county, and this time of holding the County Court has never been changed. There were two terms of the circuit Court at that time, each year, and the time of holding the Circuit Court was fixed as the second Monday in May, and the fourth Monday in October.

er, and it was provided that the Circuit Court might hold as long as six days, if the business required.

The county seat was located at Hickman, but in order that such location should be permanent it was required that a suitable lot for a court house be donated to the county and that by the first day of August, 1845, subscriptions of four thousand dollars be made by solvent men, payable in three annual installments as a donation to the county for the erection of a court house and such public buildings as might be required for the use of the county.

G. W. L. Marr deeded to Fulton county the lots upon which the court house and jail now stand and executed his obligation for the payment of the four thousand dollars as required by the act of the Legislature, locating the county seat at Hickman. When this subscription of four thousand dollars was made by G. W. L. Marr, there was an agreement made with him that his note for the amount should be replaced by the subscriptions and donations of other parties but the records fail to show who were the other subscribers to the required amount of four thousand dollars.

At this first term of the County Court L. D. Stephens was appointed clerk pro tem. of the County Court. An examination of his knowledge of keeping the records was required before he could be appointed permanently. His appointment as clerk was to continue during good behavior. L. D. Stephens was afterwards appointed clerk permanently. Edward L. Bullock was appointed County Attorney, Austin S. Tyler and James W. Gibson were recommended to the Governor as suitable qualified one of whom A. S. Tyler was appointed Surveyor. Robert Powell was appointed Coroner. John Betts was appointed Jailer.

Contract for the immediate boring of one of these wells will be let out the latter part of this week. The borings are chiefly to determine the subterranean geological formations below the superincumbent surface soil. The Courier is in receipt of the following letter from M. C. Allgood, Commissioner of Agriculture of Alabama:

"The following information was gained at the world's cotton conference at New Orleans:

"English spinners will make arrangements to buy 3,000,000 bales of American cotton. Indications now are less than a 10,000,000-bale crop. English and American spinners have very little cotton on hand. They are making immense fortunes on account of the high prices received for their goods. They could now pay the farmer 60 cents a pound for cotton based on the selling price of the cloth."

"Spinners are excited over the shortage of our production. They have millions tied up in equipment and thousands of workers dependent upon them for work, and must have cotton. The American farmers have a limited supply of cotton and can and will get 40 cents if they hold for it. It takes 12 months to grow cotton. It should be marketed over a period of 12 months and not forced on the market in three months. This year's short crop was produced on the basis of war-time prices and with four successive short crops the world will face a cotton famine next June."

"Thousands of tons of cotton seed in Texas on account of the incessant rains have sprouted and rotted in the field. In previous years cotton seed mills have crushed thousands of tons of peanuts. Today peanuts are selling for $160 a ton for shelling purposes. Therefore cotton seed oil will have no competition from peanut oil."

"Therefore, based on these facts, I beg farmers to tenaciously hold on to their cotton and seed until the above mentioned prices are obtained."

WILL NOT RUN

Pres. Wilson Will Not be Candidate for Third Term.

That President Wilson will not be a candidate to succeed himself, is about the only thing that can be said positively at this time regarding the politics of 1920.

If there was no other consideration involved, the state of the President's health is such that he would be physically able neither to undertake such a campaign as will be necessary to win the next election, nor assume burdens of the presidency for another four-year period, if he could be elected without a personal campaign.

The plain truth is, of course, that the next campaign is going to be a hard-fought one from beginning to end. The Republicans will fight as they have seldom fought for the presidency and the Wilson foreign policies will be the real issues in the offensive they will launch.

The Democratic candidate must defend those policies and with great vigor and great effect, if he is to have an even chance at the polls. And it is not believed for a minute that the President will be in a physical condition capable of undertaking the task.

In fact, the possibility of Mr. Wilson's candidacy has been dismissed by those closely associated with him.

As the result, the field for Democratic candidates for the presidential nomination is wide open. Many leading Democrats, who were inclined to eliminate themselves as presidential possibilities so long as there was a chance that the President would become the standard-bearer, now feel at liberty to initiate their campaigns whenever they think the time is right.

18lb ROWBOAT.

Local sportsmen, especially those desiring to glide over many of the surrounding lakes usually handicapped by not finding a boat on them, will be interested in knowing that they can now get a small light boat, which may be carried along in the Tin Lizzie.

For their benefit have now been built two small boats that they can carry 12 hours a day without exhaustion. One is the invention of an Englishman. It weighs but 18 lb, and collapses to the size of a small handbag, yet its canvas bottom easily holds a heavy occupant. Each of the four sides is formed of an air-tight bag which is inflated by a hand pump. The second feather-weight boat is more complex in construction but easier to paddle. When collapsed it fits into a wooden box, about the size of the case that is used to hold the popular croquet mallets.

HOME DRUGGISTS AND DOCTORS TAKE AND RECOMMEND NUMBER 40 FOR THE BLOOD.

Mr. Theodore Gerke of the Gerke Drug Co., states: "A year or so ago my wife came into the drug store and said she was going to take a blood medicine. She looked over the kinds we had on the shelf and decided to try Number 40. After taking it a while she gave it to our son and one day I was complaining of that tired feeling and she said, 'I will dose you on 40, and she did, and it helped me so much that I have been recommending it to my customers and buy in gross lots.' With scarcely an exception, druggists in Evansville and this vicinity unanimously endorse and recommend Number 40. An old and very successful physician remarked to me a short time ago on the street, 'I am taking Number 40. It will prolong a man's life.' Made by J. C. Mendenhall, 40 years a druggist, Evansville, Ind. Sold by Cowgill's Drug Store.

A transaction affecting the largest land deal ever known in Hickman county was made last week, when L. M. Hilliard took an option on the 624-acre farm of Cage Vivrett. $10,000 is said to be the figure. Mr. Hilliard is to dispose of the land within 60 days.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I—Thomas K. Barnes, wealthy New Yorker, on a walking trip through New England, is caught in a storm miles from his destination. At a crossroads point he meets a girl in the same plight. While they discuss the situation, an old woman arrives and the girl arrives and Barnes is given a lift to Hart's tavern, while the girl is taken on to her destination, which she tells Barnes is a place called Green Fancy.

CHAPTER II—At the tavern Barnes falls in with a stranded troupe of "barnstorming" actors, headed by Lyndon Rushcroft, and becomes interested in them.

CHAPTER III—As the storm grows, Barnes finds himself worrying over the safety of the girl, thinking her mountain roads are what he considers dangerous speed. He learns that Green Fancy is something of a house of mystery. Two mounted men leave the tavern in a manner which arouses Barnes' curiosity.

CHAPTER IV—He meets "Miss Thackeray," leading lady of the stranded troupe, who is acting as chambermaid. That night he is aroused by the bringing of a dying man to the tavern, one of the two who had ridden away a short time before. They tell of finding the dead body of the other man. Both had been shot.

CHAPTER V—The gaunt man, registered at the tavern as Andrew Paul, dies, and Barnes is informed he must not leave until after the inquest. O'Dowd and De Soto, guests at Green Fancy, visit the tavern, apparently much mystified over the affair.

CHAPTER VI—Barnes advances Rushcroft money sufficient to release the company from its obligation, thus becoming its official backer. He visits Green Fancy, and in the grounds meets his acquaintance of the night before, finding her a girl of surprising beauty.

CHAPTER VII—She seems not to be dubious of recognizing him, and turns away. O'Dowd appears and in apparently trifling fashion escorts Barnes, who feels he is unwelcome from the grounds.

CHAPTER VIII—Miss Thackeray warns Barnes that a man stopping at the tavern, evidently a bandit, had hidden his baggage in his absence. O'Dowd comes to the tavern and with Barnes and others goes over the scene of the previous night's shooting. Barnes is invited to dinner at Green Fancy.

Rushcroft, leaning back in his chair and stuck his thumbs in the armholes of his vest. He displayed no undue elation. Instead he affected profound calculations. His daughter shot a swift, searching look at the would-be Samaritan. There was a heightened color in her cheeks.

"Moreover, I shall be happy to increase the amount of the loan sufficiently to cover your return at once to New York, if you so desire—by train," Barnes smiled as he added the last two words.

"Extremely kind of you, my dear Barnes," said the actor, running his fingers through his hair. "Your faith in me is most gratifying. I—I really don't know what to say to you, sir."

"May I inquire just how you expect to profit by this transaction, Mr. Barnes?" Miss Thackeray asked steadily.

The mellow voice of the Irishman soon responded to Barnes' call.

"I called you up to relieve your mind regarding the young woman who came last night," he said. "You observe that I say 'came.' She's quite all right, safe and sound, and no cause for uneasiness. I thought you meant that she was coming here as a guest, and so I made the very natural mistake of saying she hadn't come at all at all. The young woman in question is Mrs. Van Dyke's maid. But, bless my soul, how was I to know she was even in existence, much less expected by train or motor or Shanks' mare? Well, she's here, so there's the end of our mystery."

Barnes was slow in replying. He was doubtless his own ears. It was not conceivable that an ordinary—or even an extraordinary—lady's maid could have possessed the exquisite voice and manner of his chance acquaintance of the day before, or the temerity to order that sour-faced chauffeur about as if—The chauffeur!

"Oh, father!" cried Miss Thackeray. "We'll make it six months, and I'll pay any rate of interest you desire. Six per cent, eight per cent, ten per—"

"Six per cent, sir, and we will make it a year from date."

"Agreed. Get up and dance for us."

"Dilly! We shall be in New York to morrow!"

"You forgot the dictatorial sheriff Mr. Rushcroft," said Barnes.

"The varlet!" barked Mr. Rushcroft.

It was arranged that Dillingford and Bacon were to go to Hornville in a hired motor that afternoon, secure the judgment, pay the costs, and attend to the removal of the personal belongings of the stranded quartette from the hotel to Hart's Tavern. The younger actors stoutly refused to accept Barnes' offer to pay their board while at the Tavern. That, they declared, would be charity, and they preferred his friendship and his respect to anything of that sort. Miss Thackeray, however, was to be immediately relieved of her position as chambermaid. She was to become a paying guest.

Rushcroft took the whole affair with the most noteworthy complacency. He seemed to regard it as his due, or me know. My mind is at rest. Goodby." As he hung up the receiver he said to himself, "You are a most affable, convincing chap, Mr. O'Dowd, but I don't believe a word you say. That woman is no lady's maid, and you've known all the time that she was there."

At four o'clock he set out alone for a tramp up the mountain road in which the two men had been shot down. His mind was quite clear. Roon and Paul were not ordinary robbers. They were, no doubt, honest men. He would have said that they were thieves bent on burglarizing Green Fancy were it not for the disclosures of Miss Thackeray and the very convincing proof that they were not shot by the same man.

It was not beyond reason—indeed, it was quite probable—that they were trying to cross the border; in that event their real operations would be confined to the Canadian side of the line. He could not free himself of the suspicion that Green Fancy possessed the key to the situation. Roon and his companion could not have had the slightest interest in his movements up to the instant he encountered the young woman at the crossroads. His busy brain suddenly suffered the shock of a distinct conclusion. Was she a fellow conspirator? Was she the inside worker at Green Fancy in a well-laid plan to rifle this place?

Could it be possible that she was the confederate of these palming agents who lurked with sinister patience outside the very gates of the more properly speaking as if he were doing Barnes a great favor in allowing him to lend money to a person of his importance.

"A thought has just come to me, my dear fellow," he remarked as they arose from table. "With the proper kind of backing I could put over one of the most stupendous things the theater has known in fifty years. I don't mind saying to you—although it's rather sub rosa—that I have written a play—a four-act drama that will pack

I'll—What ho, landlord. Have your best automobile sent around to the door as quickly as possible. A couple of my men are going to Hornville to fetch hither my—"

"Just a minute," interrupted Putnam Jones, wholly unimpressed. "A man just called you up on the phone,

"Mr. Barnes. I told him you was entertaining royalty at lunch and couldn't be disturbed. So he asked me to have you call him up as soon as you revived. His words, not mine. Call up Mr. O'Dowd at Green Fancy. Here's the number."

The mellow voice of the Irishman soon responded to Barnes' call.

He started, catching her meaning. "My dear Miss Thackeray," he exclaimed, "this transaction is solely between your father and me. I shall have no other claim to press."

"I wish I could believe that," she said.

"You may believe it," he assured her.

"It isn't the usual course," she said quietly, and her face brightened. "You are not like most men, Mr. Barnes."

"My dear child," said Rushcroft, "you must leave this matter to our friend and me. I fancy I know an honest man when I see him. My dear fortune is but temporarily frowning upon me. In a few weeks I shall be on my feet again, zipping along on the crest of the wave. I dare say I can return the money to you in a month or six weeks. If—"

You Do More Work,

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, laziness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60¢ per bottle.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is to remove the cause. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an infected condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the infection is removed, the tube will be destroyed forever. GREEN FANCY place called Green Fancy? His ramble carried him far beyond the spot where Roon's body was found and where young Conley had come upon the tethered horses. His eager, ravenous gaze swept the forest to the left of the road in search of Green Fancy. Overcome by a rash daring impulse, he climbed over the stake and rider fence and sauntered among the big trees which so far had obscured the house from view. The trees grew very thickly on the slope, and they were unusually large. He progressed deeper into the wood. At the end of what must have been a mile he halted. There was no sign of habitation, no indication that man had ever penetrated so far into the forest. As he was on the point of retracing his steps toward the road his gaze fell upon a huge moss-covered rock less than a hundred yards away. He stared, and gradually it began to take on angles and planes and recesses of the most astounding symmetry. Under his widening gaze it was transformed into a substantial object of cubes and gables and—yes, windows.

By GEORGE BARR McCUTCHEON

He was looking upon the strange home of the even stranger Mr. Curtis—Green Fancy.

Now he understood why it was called Green Fancy. Its surroundings were no greener than itself; it seemed to melt into the foliage, to become a part of the natural landscape. Mountain ivy literally enveloped it. Exposed sections of the house were painted green; the doors were green; the leafy porches and their columns, the chimney pots, the window hangings—all were the color of the unchanging forest. And it was a place of huge dimensions, low and long and rambling.

"Gad," he said to himself, "what manner of crank is he who would bury himself like this? Of all the crazy ideas I ever—"

His reflections ended there. A woman crossed his vision; a woman strolling slowly toward him through the intricate avenues of the wildwood.

CHAPTER VII.

Spun-Gold Hair, Blue Eyes and Various Encounters.

She was quite unaware of his presence, and yet he was directly in her path, though some distance away. Her head was bent; her mien was thoughtful, her stride slow and aimless.

She was slender, graceful and evidently quite tall, although she seemed a pygmy among the towering giants that attended her stroll. Her hands were thrust deep into the pocket of a white duck skirt. A glance revealed white shoes and trim ankles in blue. She wore no hat. Her hair was like spun gold, thick, wavy and shimmering in the subdued light.

Suddenly She Stopped and Looked Up.

Suddenly she stopped and looked up. She had a full view of her face as she gazed about as if startled by some unexpected, even alarming sound. For a second or two he held his breath, stunned by the amazing loveliness that was revealed to him. Then she discovered him standing there.

In a flash he realized that he was face to face with the stranger of the day before. He took two or three impulsive steps forward, his hand going to his hat—and then halted. Evidently his senses had deceived him. There was no smile in her eyes—and yet he could have sworn that it was there an instant before. Instead there was a level stare.

"I am sorry if I startled—" he began.

The figure of a man appeared as if discharged bodily from some magic tree-trunk, and stood directly in his path—a tall, rugged man in overalls who, he held a spade in his hand and eyed him ominously. Without another glance in his direction the first and more pleasing vision turned on her heel and continued her stroll, sauntering off to the right, her fair head once more bent in study, her back eloquently indifferent to the gaze that followed her.

"Who do you want to see?" inquired the man with the spade.

Before Barnes could reply a hearty voice accosted him from behind. He whirled and saw O'Dowd approaching, not twenty yards away. The Irishman's face was aglow with pleasure.

"I knew I couldn't be mistaken in the shape of you," he cried, advancing with outstretched hand. "You've got the breadth of a dockhand in your shoulders and the trimness of a prize fighter in your waist."

They shook hands. "I fear I am trespassing," said Barnes. His glance went over his shoulder as he spoke. The man with the spade had been swallowed up by the earth! He could not have vanished more quickly in any other way. Off among the trees were intermittent flashes of blue and white.

"I am quite sure you are," said O'Dowd promptly but without a trace of unfriendliness in his manner. "Beard, loving him as I do, I can't help saying that Curtis is a bally old crank. Mind ye, I say it to his face—I often do, for the matter of that. Of course, he went on seriously, "he is a sick man, poor devil. You see I've known him for a dozen years and more, and he likes me, though God knows why,

"I don't blame ye," said O'Dowd heartily. "I'd like nothing better myself than to mix up in it. The next time you plan to pay us a visit, telephone in advance. I may be able to persuade my host that you're a decent, law-abiding, educated gentleman, and he'll consent to receive you at Green Fancy. Good day to ye," and he shook hands with the departing tressurer.

"Takin' a walk?" was the landlord's greeting as Barnes mounted the tavern steps at dusk.

"Going over the grounds of last night's affair," responded Barnes, pausing.

As he entered the door he was acutely aware of an intense stare leveled at him from behind by the landlord of Hart's Tavern. Half way up the stairway he stopped short and with difficulty repressed the exclamation that rose to his lips.

He had recalled a significant incident of the night before. Almost immediately after the departure of Roon and Paul from the Tavern Putnam Jones had made his way to the phone behind the desk and had called a number in a loud, brisk voice, but the subsequent conversation was carried on in subdued tones, attended by hasty and occasional furtive glances in the direction of the taproom.

Upon reaching his room Barnes permitted the suppressed emotion to escape his lips in the shape of a soft whistle, which if it could have been translated into words would have said: "By Gad, why haven't I thought of it before? He sent out the warning that Roon and Paul were on the way! And I'd like to bet my last dollar that someone at Green Fancy had the other end of the wire."

Mr. Rushcroft was giving Hamlet's address to the players, in the taproom when Barnes came downstairs at nine o'clock.

A small, dark man who sat alone at a table in the corner caught Barnes' eye and smiled almost mournfully.

He was undoubtedly a stranger; his action was meant to convey to Barnes the information that he too was from

"He certainly has a fanciful streak in him, building a place like that," said Barnes, looking not at the house but into the thicket above. There was no sign of the blue and white and the spun gold that still defied exclusion from his mind's eye. He had not recovered from the thrill into which the vision of loveliness plunged him. He was still a trifle dazed and distraught.

"Right you are," agreed O'Dowd; "the queerest streak in the world. It's his notion of simplicity."

"Green Fancy. Is that the name he gave the place or does it spring from—"

"Twas christened by me own sister, Mr. Barnes, the first time she was here, two years ago. I'll walk with you to the fence beyond if you've no objections," said O'Dowd genially, and linked his arm through that of Barnes.

The latter was at once subtly aware of the fact that he was being deliberately conducted from the grounds. Moreover, he was now convinced that O'Dowd had been close upon his heels from the instant he entered them.

There was something uncanny in the feeling that possessed him. Such espionage as this signified something deep and imperative in the presence only of O'Dowd but the jack-in-the-box gardener a few minutes earlier.

His mind was still full of the lovely stranger about whom O'Dowd had so manifestly lied over the telephone.

"I must ask you to apologize to the young lady on whom I blundered a few moments ago, Mr. O'Dowd. She must have been startled. Pray forgive her my solicitude and excesses."

"Consider it done, my dear sir," said the Irishman. "Our most charming and seductive guest," he went on.

"Bedad, of the two of you, I'll stake my head you were startled the most.

Coming suddenly upon such rare loveliness is almost equivalent to being struck by a bolt of lightning. More than one painter of portraits has said that she is the most beautiful woman in the world. Mayhap you have heard of her. She is Miss Cameron of New Orleans, a friend of Mrs. Van Dyke.

We have quite an enchanting house party, Mr. Barnes, if you consider no more than the feminine side of it. By the way, have you heard when the coroner is to hold his inquest?"

"Nothing definite. He may wait a week," said Barnes.

"I suppose you'll stick around until it's over," ventured O'Dowd. Barnes thought he detected a slight harshness in his voice.

"I have quite made up my mind to stay until the mystery is entirely cleared up," he said. "The case is so interesting that I don't want to miss a shred of it."

"I don't blame ye," said O'Dowd heartily. "I'd like nothing better myself than to mix up in it. The next time you plan to pay us a visit, telephone in advance. I may be able to persuade my host that you're a decent, law-abiding, educated gentleman, and he'll consent to receive you at Green Fancy. Good day to ye," and he shook hands with the departing tressurer.

"Takin' a walk?" was the landlord's greeting as Barnes mounted the tavern steps at dusk.

"Going over the grounds of last night's affair," responded Barnes, pausing.

"Any news?" inquired Barnes, approaching the desk after the door had closed behind the book agent.

"It wasn't the sheriff," replied Jones shortly, and immediately resumed his interrupted discourse on books and book agents. Ten minutes elapsed before the landlord's garrulity was checked by the sound of an automobile coming to a stop in front of the house.

Barnes turned expectantly toward the door. Almost immediately the car started again, with a loud shifting of gears, and a moment later the door opened to admit, not a fresh arrival but the little book agent.

"Party trying to make Hornville tonight," he announced casually. "Well, good night. See you in the morning."

Barnes was not in a position to recall the fellow's word, for the car unmistakably had gone on toward Hornville. He waited a few minutes after the man disappeared up the narrow staircase, and then proceeded to test his powers of divination. He was as sure as he could be of anything that had not actually come to pass that in a short time the automobile would cross pass the tavern, but this time from the direction of Hornville.

Lighting a cigarette he strolled outside. He had barely time to take a position at the darkened end of the porch before the sounds of an approaching machine came to his ears. A second or two later the lights swing around the bend in the road a quarter of a mile above Hart's Tavern, and down came the car at a high rate of speed. It dashed past the tavern with a great roar and rattle and shot off into the darkness beyond. As it rushed through the dim circle of light in front of the tavern Barnes succeeded in obtaining a brief but convincing view of the car. That glance was enough, however. He would have been willing to go before a jury and swear that it was the same car that had deposited him at Hart's Tavern the day before.

Having guessed correctly in the one instance he allowed himself another and even bolder guess—the little book agent had either received a message from or delivered one to the occupant or driver of the car from Green Fancy.

As he entered the door he was acutely aware of an intense stare leveled at him from behind by the landlord of Hart's Tavern. Half way up the stairway he stopped short and with difficulty repressed the exclamation that rose to his lips.

He had recalled a significant incident of the night before. Almost immediately after the departure of Roon and Paul from the Tavern Putnam Jones had made his way to the phone behind the desk and had called a number in a loud, brisk voice, but the subsequent conversation was carried on in subdued tones, attended by hasty and occasional furtive glances in the direction of the taproom.

Upon reaching his room Barnes permitted the suppressed emotion to escape his lips in the shape of a soft whistle, which if it could have been translated into words would have said: "By Gad, why haven't I thought of it before? He sent out the warning that Roon and Paul were on the way! And I'd like to bet my last dollar that someone at Green Fancy had the other end of the wire."

Mr. Rushcroft was giving Hamlet's address to the players, in the taproom when Barnes came downstairs at nine o'clock.

A small, dark man who sat alone at a table in the corner caught Barnes' eye and smiled almost mournfully.

He was undoubtedly a stranger; his action was meant to convey to Barnes the information that he too was from

"He certainly has a fanciful streak in him, building a place like that," said Barnes, looking not at the house but into the thicket above. There was no sign of the blue and white and the spun gold that still defied exclusion from his mind's eye. He had not recovered from the thrill into which the vision of loveliness plunged him. He was still a trifle dazed and distraught.

"Right you are," agreed O'Dowd; "the queerest streak in the world. It's his notion of simplicity."

"Green Fancy. Is that the name he gave the place or does it spring from—"

"Twas christened by me own sister, Mr. Barnes, the first time she was here, two years ago. I'll walk with you to the fence beyond if you've no objections," said O'Dowd genially, and linked his arm through that of Barnes.

The latter was at once subtly aware of the fact that he was being deliberately conducted from the grounds. Moreover, he was now convinced that O'Dowd had been close upon his heels from the instant he entered them.

WEALTHY DIG UP

Hidden Wealth Subjected to Taxation And Real Estate Decreases.

Real estate, under the system of classifying property for taxation, adopted by the people of Kentucky and first put into practice by the tax revision of 1917, bears a relatively decreasing proportion of the burden of taxation, as shown by statistics compiled by Ben Marshall, Secretary of the State Tax Commission, for the year 1913 to 1919, inclusive.

Because the average taxpayer does not distinguish between State and local taxes and has not grasped the fact that it is the tax rate and not the assessment which counts, political propaganda apparently has gained converts against the system among the class of people most benefited by classification—farmers and city real-estate owners.

The state tax rate was reduced from 55 to 40 cents, notwithstanding the increase in assessments of real estate in 1918, it paid the state $442,163.67 less than the year before. It paid to the counties a much larger amount than in 1917, because the counties did not reduce their tax rates.

This year farm real estate will pay to the state more than it did in 1917 but, because of a proportionately larger increase in the returns of money in banks and assessments on personality, especially intangible property, real estate is bearing a still lower percentage of the burden than it did in 1918.

By another cut in the state rate and contemplated cuts in the county rates by Fiscal Courts, real estate taxes can be reduced again, nearly all of it going for roads and schools. Even now the state revenue from real estate does not cover the appropriations for public school and highways.

From 1913 to 1917, inclusive the statistics show taxes on farm lands ranged from 41.69 per cent to 42.53 per cent of the total taxes paid the state; town lots from 34.303 to 35.127 per cent; tangible personality from 13.333 to 14.153 per cent; intangibles from 7.453 to 8.427 per cent; bank deposits from 1.139 to 1.422 per cent; and livestock in 1917 bore 7.029 per cent of the burden.

Thus, under the old tax law, 77 per cent of all the revenues of the state were derived from taxation of land. That was before property was classified and some of it relieved from state taxes. In addition more than another 7 per cent was borne by livestock upon the land.

SOUTH IS TURNING AGAINST CALOMEL

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Responsible for Change for the Better.

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day.

BIGGEST CHECK DRAWN.

Secretary Glass Friday put his name to a check for $2,648,309,171.53, said to have been the largest ever drawn. It was made payable to the treasurer of the United States, but did not involve a transfer of that amount of money. It was made necessary to account for redemptions of certificates of indebtedness and other obligations in June.

The largest check ever drawn on the treasury for outgoing money was $200,000,000, which was lent to Great Britain.

The cotton market is a queer bird. We have been informed that seed cotton sold last Saturday at a wide range of prices in various near-by markets. At Hickman the maximum price was $13.60; Union City $14.50; Choctaw $13.20 and Dyersburg $16.00. We remember a few years back the same good cotton brought only $2.50 to $3.00 a hundred. The difference between prices paid by some buyers Saturday was greater than the entire purchase price ten years ago.

VITAL STATISTICS

302 Deaths and 246 Births in Fulton County During Year 1918.

The Bureau of Vital Statistics furnishes the Courier with a tabulated report of deaths and births in Fulton county for the year of 1918.

Total deaths (exclusive of still births amounting to 15) were 302—the largest we have had in many years, and which was the result of the influenza epidemic, which killed 70 people in our county.

Number of births 246.

The death rate is 20.3 against a birth rate of 16.8, based on an estimated population in the county of 16,248.

Deaths of infants, under one year, 45; over one and under four, 33; age sixty-five and over, 44.

In the following lists are the figures for the years 1917 and 1918; the first figure is for 1917 and the last for 1918:

Tuberculosis of the lungs, 25—28.

Other tuberculosis, 1—3.

Typhoid fever, 6—2.

Diphtheria, croup, 2—1.

Scarlet fever, 0—0.

Measles, 5—0.

Whooping cough, 4—4.

Pneumonia, 24—24.

Diarrhoea (under two years old), 21—16.

Meningitis, 6—2.

Influenza, 11—79.

Puerperal septicemia (child bed fever), 1—3.

Other diarrhoeal diseases, 21—34.

All of the above diseases are listed as preventable."

The following come under the head of deaths "from violence and cancer."

Cancer, 7—5.

Violence, 45—46.

Suicides, 12—15.

It will be observed that we've had large falling off in violent deaths, but this has been offset by deaths from influenza.

DORENA GETS P. O.

Postoffice to be Re-Established with W. C. Bryant as Postmaster.

Through a recent order issued by the Postoffice Department, the postoffice at Dorena, opposite Hickman, Ky., which was abolished in 1915 is to be restored at once, with W. C. Bryant, prominent planter and one of the county's largest land owners as postmaster.

The postoffice at Dorena was first established in 1889, and continued for sixteen years, at which time it was discontinued, for some reason, compelling the patrons to get their mail at Hickman. Fixtures for the new office have been ordered, and on arrival, the new office will be opened for the receipt and dispatch of mails. Temporarily, the mail will be transferred to Dorena by boat from Hickman.

THE OLD MAN.

As man grows older in foot and shoulder he has a frequent pain, his back is aching, his heart breaking at every strain. We should remember that life's December is cheerless, cold and sad, and not act bearish, but help and cheer the poor old ailing dad. The old man stumbles, and stutters and grumbles, but we should patient be, for the time is sailing and we'll be sailing and weak, some day as he. We're bold and hearty; age is a party who seems afar, remote; but time's a sprinter, and soon life's winter will come and get our goat. And when we totter, and fumble, and totter, as weary old men will, may those around us, but ease us down the hill. As the hair grows whiter the way-worn blighter needs kindness all the time; if you remind him that love's behind him you're guilty of a crime. The dippant laddie whose rude to daddy can be no friend of mine, though that same critter may fairly glitter where social lions shine.—Ex.

SELLING MIRACLE WHEAT.

An efficient swindle is never permitted to die.

Years ago "miracle wheat" was marketed to the farmers for a price that would dent the conscience of a food profiteer. The wheat turned out to be just ordinary, everyday seed—or worse. Finally, the farmers rose up and made the seed sellers hard to catch. The affair received as much publicity as an actress receives.

Yet there is the Agriculture College of Idaho sending out warnings that marketers of "miracle wheat" are abroad in the land and prospering amazingly. Experience, publicity, trials and punishments—the common knowledge of the country side—seem to count for nothing. "Miracle wheat" sounded well and the second crop of farmers bit as eagerly as the first.

HARRIS HEADS L. O. O. F.

W. H. Harris, of Morganfield, Ky., was elected Grand Master of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Kentucky, Wednesday at their meeting at Louisville. J. W. Douglas, of Owen-Louisville, was elected deputy grand master; B. J. Durham, of Danville, was elected grand treasurer, and Beckham Overstreet was elected grand representative.

FIRST FROST SATURDAY.

The first frost of the season was reported Saturday. It was very light, and by no means what would be termed a "killing frost." Little real damage resulted. Some sections reported no frost at all, while along the high lands off the Dyersburg road it was reported as from "light" to "a pretty good one."

Owing to the high prices that country newspapers are going to have to pay for paper, and everything else, for the next six months and maybe more, it may be a tight squeeze for many of them to pull through. The Courier has a supply of paper that will carry us up to the New Year—then?

Wear Pledge

At last, a Boys' Suit that puts a stop to uncertain service. You've seen boys' clothes of the old school; now come see the head of the class.

We have just been granted the exclusive selling rights in Hickman for a Boys' garment that can't go bad without making good.

Its name is WEARPLEDGE. It's made in New York by a Million Dollar institution and sold from sea to sea by especially appointed dealers.

Every WEARPLEDGE suit or o'coat is accompanied by an insurance policy that pledges the wear to your satisfaction, or new clothes as your settlement.

It's the biggest, broadest and boldest stroke in boys' clothes merchandising that has ever been attempted in America.

We're glad we own the exclusive selling right for Hickman. And Hickman will be glad that WEARPLEDGE is a part of the City when season opens.

THE BELT

Every Wearpledge suit goes home with a "Live" Leather Belt on the pants. The minute your son sees it stretch he'll start to coax.

THE BACKING

An Insurance Policy goes with every garment regardless of price. New Clothes if a Wearpledge fails—without any red tape.

THE MOTHER TOUCH

Wearpledge Clothes, both models and make, are passed on by a Committee of Mothers—this "touch" tells and talks—when you see it.

The Super-Six Motor Is Exclusively Hudson's

IT ADDS 72% TO POWER—MINIMIZING VIBRATION AND INCREASING CAR LIFE—NO OTHER CAR CAN USE IT FOR HUDSON CREATED AND HOLDS THE SUPER-SIX PATENT

IMPROVED THROUGH FOUR YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

Since the first Super-Six many advancements have been made in the Hudson. But the principle by which it attained its supremacy remains unchanged. Refinements have been added as the result of experience. The things which Hudson owners had said would make the Super-Six the finest car that is built, are included in the present Hudson.

What car has had equal opportunity to do these things? Before the present model was offered, 60,000 owners of earlier Super-Sixes were influencing its development.

SUCH A CAR IS ALWAYS IN DEMAND

Men have long known that to get a Hudson it is necessary to make reservations in advance. On some models and in some seasons thousands have waited a month or more.

No man can drive a Hudson without feeling a growing respect for it. Old models are retained by owners with an affection equal to that extended toward a faithful servant.

Super-Six owners know the real meaning of motor car satisfaction. Their needs are fulfilled.

If you plan to get a Hudson this year or next, now is not too early to speak for it.

Our proposition is so simple and yet so fair that business men, professional men and all other intelligent people everywhere are seizing the opportunity to become owners of property in this great oil field. Orders are coming in from different parts of the United States and if home folks want to acquire an interest before it is too late, now is the time to act.

Do you own any land in this oil district? Do you hold any lease on any of this land? If not, do you want an interest in it?

Don't you want to actually own some of the land in this oil district and an interest in an oil or gas well? If you do read on.

We have divided 33 acres of land in the very heart of this great oil district into lots of 100 square feet each which we are selling for $10 a lot, together with an interest in the oil well which we are preparing to drill near the center of this tract just as soon as we finish this sale. Anyone has the right to purchase as many lots as he may desire.

$100.00 invested in Trapshooters Oil Company yielded	$ 42,000.00
$100.00 invested in Merritt Oil Company yielded	$ 57,000.00
$100.00 invested in San Joaquin Oil Company yielded	$ 88,000.00
$100.00 invested in Fortuna Oil Company yielded	$250,000.00

John D. Rockefeller said: Don't delay. Get in while you can. The unwise man thinks a thing worthless or it would not be offered to him.

Our proposition puts this opportunity to become independent within reach of every man, woman and child. It will not be within your reach after the oil and gas wells begin to give up their great wealth in this oil field.

We will explain every detail to anyone calling at our office at 119 Clinton Street, or you may call us by Cumberland Telephone No. 67, or you may fill in the following blank and mail to us, and we will mail you a warranty deed to the lot or lots which you desire.

Back to the Old Time

Congress Kills Daylight Saving Law; Senate Follows House in Overriding President's Rejection of Repeal

Repeal of the daylight-saving act has been accomplished. The senate voted to sustain the house in passing the repeal measure over President Wilson's veto. The vote was 57 to 19.

The repeal of the law, which now takes its place among the very few which have been passed over a presidential veto, becomes effective after the clocks are turned back to normal in October. It will go down in legislative history as one of the very few measures which twice have been vetoed by a president and become law by the vote of more than two-thirds in both houses of congress.

Agitation for repeal of the daylight-saving law first came from farmers, but recently was buttressed by labor unions, mothers' clubs, rural school authorities, and many other interests.

Urban opinion also became divided and officials of many cities and smaller towns demanded repeal. Congress was flooded with petitions for repeal and with petitions urging retention of the statute.

Loss of time in farm labor was the principal objection raised to the law. This complaint came principally from farmers employing "hired hands." Opponents of the law declared all farmers, at some time during the summer season, are employers of labor and suffered from the law.

The complaint of loss of labor was based principally on the shortening of the working day on the farm by the advancing of the clock one hour from March to October.

The farmers declared they could not adjust farm work to the advanced time because, with the clock advanced an hour, farm work could not be begun as early in the morning as under the normal time schedule and must close an hour earlier.

Hubert Andrews, driving a Ford car, let the machine get away from him Monday afternoon and went through a board fence into the yard behind H. C. Pearson's shoe shop. The car was slightly damaged but the occupants of the car escaped injury, after two of them had jumped to safety. Bystanders say he was making too much speed to turn the corner, which was responsible for the accident.

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB.

Mary had a little lamb its fleece was white as snow; it strayed away one day where lambs should never go. And Mary sat her quickly down and tears streamed down her eyes she never found her little lamb for she did not advertise. And Mary had a brother John who kept the village store, he sat down and smoked a pipe, and watched the open door. And as the people passed along and did not stop to buy, John still sat and smoked his pipe and blinked his sleepy eye. And so the sheriff closed him out but still he lingered near and so Mary came to drop with him a sympathetic tear. How is it sister can you tell, why other merchants here sell all their goods so readily and thrive from year to year? Remembering her own bad luck the little maid replied: These other fellows get there John because they advertise.

Over and Under CLOTHES To-Keep-You-Warm

The owners of this business are not given to making sensational advertising statements. We don't believe in hocus pocus methods. You never read a hurry-up-or-they'll-all-be-gone advertisement by the Store of Standardized Values.

But at this time we feel called upon to make a public announcement, which is nothing short of sensational!

We feel that our reputation for veracity in advertising will insure your belief in this statement.

The average selling price of the clothing at this store is today lower than the average cost of the same goods on the wholesale market.

In other words, almost every suit and overcoat that we offer you today at Standardized value prices will cost us more to replace than the price we now ask.

A wink is as good as a nod to a blind horse!

"THE STORE THAT LEADS"

ALL UP TO THE SCHOOL-MA'AMS

Kentucky Teachers Are Most Important Factor In $300,000 Drive

GILBERT URGES ACTION

"The country school-ma'am—that faithful, endearing bulwark of progress and enlightenment—is the personage on whom the success of Kentucky's $300,000 drive to build a new Children's Home depends. The country school-ma'am is the one who is in the direct position to take charge of the campaign in her school and get the children interested," according to George L. Schon, superintendent of the Kentucky Children's Home Society.

V. O. Gilbert, state superintendent of schools, urges all teachers to put their best efforts into the campaign until it closes the last week in October. "County superintendents are often too busy to enter personally into the campaign, and perhaps the teachers think it is not up to them to take the initiative in the matter. I want to urge all county superintendents to put forth their best efforts into the campaign, but if some should happen to forget their duty in this matter, I want to see the teachers themselves take hold and push it through to the great success it deserves. Many of the prominent people over the state who would be willing to direct a campaign in their locality, are busy taking part in the political campaign. Here is a chance for teachers over the state to show their initiative and qualities of leadership and management in their schools and communities."

A Business Investment

The new home which will be built after the campaign, will be a group of cottages on a farm ten miles from Louisville. This will provide wholesome surroundings for the children, and the duties connected with the management of the farm will give vocational training to the older children in the care of the Kentucky Children's Home Society. "It is not only a good, charitable cause, but a sound business investment," Mr. Schon said. "Instead of the constant yearly drain to provide for the Kentucky children that come into our care, we will have fifty acres of ground upon which to raise provisions, which will more than pay for the cost of the food supplies. The Odd Fellows' Home at Eminence, Ky., which cultivates thirty-seven acres, raises more food than is consumed, and there is a surplus to apply on other expenses."

BILL MINOR KILLED

Lawrence Masterson, Late Duncan and Bill Minor of this city, were making a trip down the river and on reaching a point near Clarksdale, Miss., landed and pitched camp. The sheriff being notified that a party had pitched camp near there and were selling liquor, with six deputies went to the camp about 11 o'clock Friday night. The men were in the tent playing cards when the sheriff ordered them to surrender. Masterson and Duncan came out and surrendered, but Minor grabbed his gun and ran out the rear of the tent, where he was shot and killed instantly. Six sacks of whiskey were found.—New Madrid Record.

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY

Add This Fact to Your Store of Knowledge.

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended by pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Hickman citizen.

Jno. Provow, prop. barber shop, 810 Johnson Ave., says: "From over-work and standing so much, my kidneys became affected and my back gave me a lot of pain. I had sharp, shooting pains across the small of my back and the kidney secretions were irregular in passage. I had to get up at night quite a few times and the secretions were highly colored and scalding in passage. I used Doan's Kidney Pills when I was troubled in that way and they never failed to benefit me."

GREAT EVANGELIST

Rev. Guice Will Open Campaign Here Sunday, Oct. 26th.

A revival campaign will open at the First Methodist Church, in Hickman, Sunday, Oct. 26th, at 11:00 a. m.

The evangelist is Rev. C. Norman Guice, one of the general evangelists of the M. E. Church South.

A member of the First Methodist Church at Jackson, Tenn., where Evangelist Guice has been in a meeting the past two weeks, writes to a Hickman friend:

"Bro. Guice is the best evangelist we have ever had. Immense congregations hear him at every service."

A personal invitation is hereby extended to every individual in Hickman and surrounding country.—R. C. Douglass, Pastor.

SITUATION IS BETTER.

The whooping cough and mumps situation is much improved. The continued co-operation of the parents will enable us to keep our schools open. Therefore all parents are requested to call their family physician when their children show the least evidence of any communicable disease or report to Dr. Phelps, County Health Officer.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

I am going to appeal to the members and friends in behalf of the Sunday School. It almost seems out of place for me to make this appeal for every member of the church is morally obligated to attend the Bible school, for it is the church school, and only real illness should detain you. The school meets at 10 a. m. and we expect you to attend and take part.

The preaching services will be at 11 a. m. The subject of the morning sermon will be "Calling out of the Called." The $5 million campaign is an assured success from all indications, and new fields of missions will be entered and a greatly increased force of missionaries will be needed. Consecrate your sons and daughters to this work.

There will be no evening service.

A personal invitation is hereby extended to every individual in Hickman and surrounding country.—R. C. Douglass, Pastor.

BOX SUPPER

Stubbs' School Will Give Benefit Affair Friday Night, Oct. 31.

There will be a Box Supper at Stubbs' schoolhouse, Friday night, Oct. 31. The most popular girl will receive a box of nice candy. Everybody is invited and the proceeds go to further equip the school library.

HALLOWEEN PARTY.

The pupils of the Hickman High School will give a Hallowe'en party on the evening of the 31st, and issue the following worded invitation to the public:

On Hallowe'en, when dogs do growl And cats meow and banshees howl— You're asked to join in the masquerade. The place Elks hall, the hour is eight So mount your broom and don't be late.

The party is given for the benefit of the high school and the nominal admission of 25¢ will be charged.

WILL PREACH HERE SUNDAY.

Eld. K. M. Myatt, of Clinton, will preach at the court house in Hickman Saturday evening and Sunday morning and Sunday evening. The public has a cordial invitation to come out and hear him.

At the time the Court House was erected there was not taken into account office for the County Engineer. Since this is a permanent thing for this county, a room for him is being arranged at the Court House. The room south of Judge E. J. Stahr's office, designated as County Court Room, is being made into two offices, one office to be used by the County Road Engineer and the other to be used as a private office for the County Judge. County Court is held upstairs in the Circuit Court room.

I shall mention of some of these things Sunday morning. Let us all make a special effort to show our interest in our religious affairs generally, especially these teaching and preaching services by our presence and hearty cooperation.

Court Since Last Report.
New Cases Filed in Fulton Circuit

J. C. Lawson vs. C. L. Varden and E. P. Hughes. Suit on note, dated Oct. 15, 1916, for $327.

O. L. Bartlett vs. R. R. Rogers, Breach of contract. Plaintiff claims he contracted with Mr. Rogers for 100,000 feet of elm logs and that he failed to deliver the goods. That he also advanced him $250. By reason of his failure to get out and deliver the logs, the plaintiff says he lost a profit of about $10 per thousand, and prays for a judgment of $1,000 and the recovery of his $250.

S. F. Barkett vs. W. H. Williams. Attachment proceedings to recover $100 and costs.

Jas. P. Smith vs. A. B. Barkett. Mr. Smith sues for a balance on account amounting to $1151.25. Smith is a wholesale merchant of Paducah.

Ellen Marshall vs. J. W. Ward. Plaintiff claims Mr. Ward, in ditching his land, caused the water to run on her farm, damaging corn and cotton crops to the extent of $25 an acre. She sues for $2000.

Beatrice Jackson vs. Eli Jackson. Divorce. Plaintiff alleges that the defendant "by force of arms and threats of violence forced her to get into his buggy and go with him to Esq. Shaw, who married them against her will." He then took her to his home and for two days kept her there in terror in his endeavor to deflower her. This marriage occurred Aug. 21, 1919, and the girl was then only 14 years old.

Susan Hillman vs. J. R. Hillman. Divorce. Mr. Hillman states that she came in possession of letters to her husband from another woman "indicating too close intimacy" and files other charges as ground for divorce. They were married in this county, Sept. 20, 1913.

Lena Boaz vs. E. H. Boaz. Divorce. Married in Obion county, Sept. 25, 1915. Abandonment given as the grounds for action.

Lola C. Clayton vs. Tolle Clayton. Divorce. This couple was married Dec. 29, 1915. She alleges cruel and inhuman treatment, that defendant struck her with his fists, cursed her, etc.

Mrs. D. Jackson vs. Ed Jackson. Divorce. Married in Obion county 2 1/2 years ago. Defendant deserted her in September, 1917, which she claims as grounds for divorce.

Press Knox vs. Mary Knox. Divorce. Married Aug. 6, 1898. He claims his wife abandoned him in July, 1918. They have six children.

The Daughters of Confederacy met on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. A. Thompson and despite bad weather, had a very good attendance. Mrs. Carrie Reid, President of this Chapter, came over from Fulton and presided, this being the last meeting before expiration of her term. She has efficiently handled this Chapter for the past two years—two years being the limit of the term of the organization. The members are sorry to see the end of her term. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Mrs. C. L. Walker, President; Miss Frankie Reid, First Vice-President;

Mrs. T. A. Ledford, Second Vice-President; Miss Light Farris, Secretary;

Mrs. H. L. Amberg, Treasurer; Miss Carrie May Reid, Corresponding Secretary and Historian.

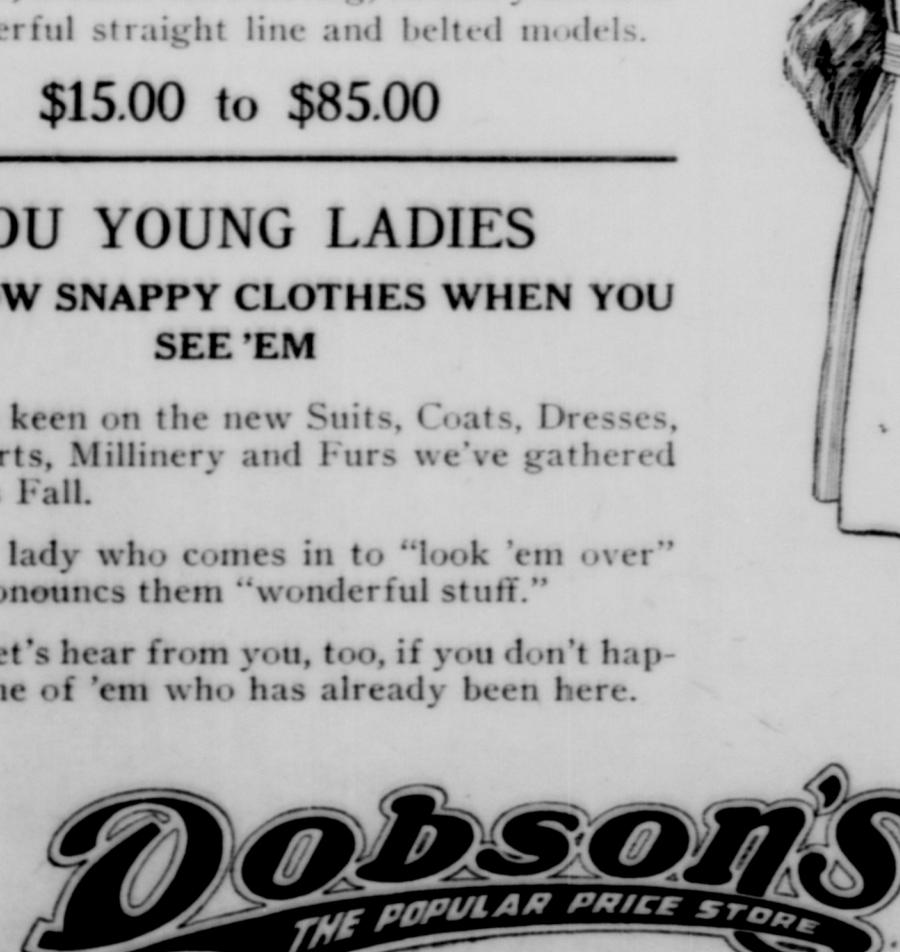

After the business of the afternoon and election of officers, sandwiches and coffee were enjoyed during the social half hour.

SUGAR SITUATION

Wholesaler in Letter to Retailer Gives an Opinion.

The following letter from a Cairo wholesaler to a Hickman merchant gives a fairly good explanation of the sugar situation. It was not written for publication, and is, therefore, the better as an explanation of the present shortage. Here it is:

"What is the cause of the present sugar situation? This is the question that is being freely asked these days. There are various answers given, some that are erroneous and some that bear truth. Is it because the United States is shipping it to Europe? No, absolutely not. We are exporting no sugar except that owned by the Royal Commission which was refined in this country out of raw sugar owned by the Commission. Is there a shortage in the Louisiana Cane but this plays a very small part in the raw sugar situation. Of course we all know there is a shortage of European beet but this never comes to this country. That gap however has to be filled by the world supply. Most of the sugar refined and consumed in this country comes from Cuba. The United States Equalization Board purchased last year's crop of Cuban sugar and named a price on it to refiners and jobbers. This lot of sugar is practically exhausted. This board has decided not to purchase the new crop. The Cuban crop is larger than last year. The beet sugar crop in this country is larger than last year. Then why the scarcity? There are several reasons:

"1. We are at that season when the old crop is about exhausted and the new crop is just beginning to move.

"2. The shipping strike materially curtailed shipments of raw sugar from Cuba and other producing countries to the United States which caused refiners to run short.

"3. There has been a great increase in the consumption of sugar this year over any previous one. The figures of the United States Equalization Board show that for the current year there has been an increase in consumption of three hundred twenty six thousand tons over the corresponding period last year.

"It will take a few months before conditions become normal. You can assist materially by advising your customers to discontinue buying in large quantities. Stop hoarding.

"We look for no permanent relief soon, especially not before January 1."

It's Fuel that's Expensive—Not the Stove

A Cheap, putty-jointed stove will waste more than its Original Cost in Fuel every winter.

As you know, fully one-half the carbon available for heat in soft coal is gas—the entire gas supply used for fuel and illumination in many cities and towns being made from common soft coal. The ordinary stove in burning soft coal allows this gas-half of the fuel to pass up the chimney unburned, thus wasting it as a heat producer.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Stove, by means of the patented Hot Blast draft and other patented features, making air-tight joints without the use of stove putty, distills this gas from the upper surface of the coal, utilizing it as a heat producer along with the fixed carbon or coke in the coal, thus burning all the coal. This is why

Cole's Original Hot Blast

Saves the Dollars and makes a ton of common $3.00 soft coal or lignite do the work of $9.00 worth of hard coal.

Your old stove and imitation Hot Blast are not air-tight, do not save the escaping gases and do not give you a warm house at night, because they are made with putty joints. You cannot afford to say to yourself, "My old stove will have to do this winter." The old stove is eating up the price of a new stove every year. Not only that, but on top of the cost is the unsatisfactory result it gives. It is always out the coldest morning.

Even Heat Day and Night—Fire Never Out

Cole's Hot Blast is so perfect in construction that fire will keep all night, and when the draft is opened in the morning will burn two or three hours with the fuel put in the night before. No other stove does this. Fire, therefore, never goes out, and the rooms are kept at an even temperature all the time. Burns hard coal, soft coal, slack, lignite or wood.

OUR GUARANTEE

- 1—We guarantee a saving of one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove of the same size, with soft coal or slack.
- 2—We guarantee Cole's Hot Blast to use less hard coal for heating a given space than any base burner or any other heating surface.
- 3—We guarantee that the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning, with the soft coal or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.
- 4—We guarantee that the stove will hold fire with soft coal 36 hours without attempting to go out.
- 5—We guarantee a uniform heat day and night, with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.
- 6—We guarantee every stove to remain absolutely air-tight as long as used.
- 7—We guarantee the feed door to be smoke and dust proof.

The above guarantee is made with the understanding that the stove be operated according to directions, and set up with a good fire.

For Hard Coal — Saves Half

The extent of unburned gases in hard coal is shown by opening the magazine cover of a base burner when the extra oxygen supplied fills the entire stove with flaming gas.

The fact that no stove putty is used to make air-leaking joints, gives you perfect control over the drafts on Cole's Hot Blast. The slow, economical combustion, and the large, positive radiating surface make it the greatest fuel-saving, hard coal stove made.

Would You Lose $50.00 in Fuel to Save $1.00 on the Cost of Your Stove?

That is what you do when you buy a cheaply constructed, putty-jointed, showy made imitation stove. Like all successful inventions, Cole's Original Hot Blast has many inferior imitations, avoid them.

They all lack the patented features and careful construction, which make the Original Hot Blast a great success. They do not stay tight, and soon open seams and cracks which render them worthless as fire keepers. See the name "Cole's Hot Blast from Chicago" on the feed door. None genuine without it.

PLAN ACTION

War on Profiteering Will Start in a Few Days.

Armed for the first time with a newly-enacted Federal law providing severe penalties, including prison terms, the Federal high cost of living Commission of Kentucky, an adjunct of the Department of Justice, met at Louisville, Monday, to consider its course of action in view of the enactment of the Lever food bill.

This campaign is to effect the entire state. Their first act will be to look into any cases where sugar has been sold in excess of 11¢ a pound, the price fixed by the government. Flour prices come next and on down the line. Clothing prices are also to be investigated.

All country chairmen will be asked to make reports on prices charged by merchants in their respective counties.

Material for many cases had already been submitted, and prosecutions will begin as soon as a copy of the new law is received by the Commission.

HOGS DECLINE

Prices Take Big Tumble Monday, $1.75 Under Last Week.

Prices of pork on the hoof were given another big smash Monday. A 75-cent reduction of the quoted price of the best hogs took the market for that grade to the lowest level since February, 1917.

The top price Monday was $13.25, or $1.75 below the quotations of a week ago, and about $9.75 under the prices of last July.

If the farmer must stand this big drop, it looks like the "ultimate consumer" ought to get a reduction on bacon and of least 2 cents a pound.

Roy McNeill, of Hickman, had a load of hogs on the St. Louis market, Monday, we understand was caught for a goodly sum as a result of the break.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY

Paducahan Shoots Woman and Then Commits Suicide.

Following a lovers' quarrel Monday evening at 6:40 o'clock, Ward Brazzell, about 29 years of age, drew a .32 caliber pistol fired three shots at Mrs. Dolly Davis, all of which took effect in the woman's body. He then turned the revolver on himself firing one shot through his heart, dying instantly. The tragedy occurred on the sidewalk in front of the Thompson Transfer Co., and was witnessed by several bystanders.

At present, Mrs. Davis, who is a married woman, having a husband and three children at Brookport, Ill., is lying in a critical condition at the Riverside hospital and is not expected to live. Surgeons at the hospital who extracted the three bullets from her body, state that Mrs. Davis is one of the bravest little women they ever operated on. They say that she appears to be about 27 years of age and is very pretty.

In spite of her serious condition, Mrs. Davis gave a short statement to the attendants at the hospital. She said: "Joe has loved me for several years. I came to Paducah on a business trip and tried to avoid him. He met me on Third street tonight and tried to force his attentions on me. We quarreled and he threatened to kill me if I would not leave to care for him. When I told him that I loved Mr. Davis he became angry and drew a pistol. I was going to run away, but he started shooting. That is all I know."

QUARTERLY COURT

Cases of Interest in Judge Stahr's Court Since Last Report.

This has been a quiet week in Judge Stahr's court, only two cases being up for consideration.

Ernest Mathis, the negro charged with shooting and killing another negro by the name of Jesse Spann on Sept. 3rd, was given a preliminary hearing and placed under a formal charge of "involuntary manslaughter," bond fixed at $400 and placed in jail. He will be tried at the January term of circuit court.

Raymond Lentz pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbing public worship and paid a fine of $5 and costs. The offense occurred at Bonduart, in the lower end of the county.

THREKELD—GRIFFIN.

A wedding of much interest to Hickman people was that on Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's father, Louis Threlkeld, at Hermansville, Miss., when Miss Laverne Threlkeld and Mr. Henry Griffin, of Oakton, Ky., were married. The bride was born and reared here and is well known to Hickman people, being a niece of Mrs. S. M. Naifeh, and is a charming young lady. The groom is a resident of Clinton, Ky., but is at the present time cashier of a bank at Oakton, Ky. Immediately after the ceremony they left in the groom's auto for an overland trip from Hermansville to New Orleans, taking train from there for Mobile to visit relatives of Mr. Griffin, and after a few days in Memphis, will be at home at Oakton.

One house holding from 75 to 150 hens can be used to advantage, allowing the hens free range all the time. An excellent arrangement is to have the house near an orchard, which furnishes a good range for the hens. By allowing free range the hens will pick up all the necessary green feed and will also get a considerable amount of their grain feed.

Keep large hoppers containing dry mash before the hens constantly, so that it will be necessary to feed the scratch grains only once or twice daily. Very little more labor is required in caring for flock containing from 100 to 150 hens than is required for from 30 to 100 hens, provided all the hens are kept in one house and have a large free range.

A separate shed or a room in the laying house can be utilized to advantage for hatching chickens with nests.

PoultryMETHODS OF HANDLING HENS

Labor-Saving Appliances Are of Value on Poultry Farm—Orchard Furnishes Range.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In general the simplest methods of handling poultry are best, especially on general farms, where poultry is a side issue, though such farms furnish the bulk of the poultry production. Labor-saving appliances are of value on poultry farms, but are not always practical on general farms. Women and children can do most of the poultry work on a general farm and thereby release the labor of the men for other farm work. On general farms, place the poultry house convenient to the dwelling house in order to save steps.

One house holding from 75 to 150 hens can be used to advantage, allowing the hens free range all the time. An excellent arrangement is to have the house near an orchard, which furnishes a good range for the hens. Poultry on Range Requires Less Care.

setting as many hens as possible at one time; this saves labor, as it takes only a little while longer to care for a number of setting hens than for one hen. Confine the setting hens to their nests and allow them all to come off at one time daily. An incubator may be used for hatching the eggs and the chicks may be put under hens to brood, especially early in the season, when it is difficult to get hens to set as early as is desirable to produce early chickens.

Raise the chickens under hens, putting from 15 to 25 chickens with each hen, and confine the hens to small coops placed on a good green sod, or a field of some growing crop whereby the young chickens will have free range on fresh land. A considerable number of hens with broods of chickens can be kept in a limited space where the hens are confined to the coops.

In sections where commercial hatcheries exist the farmer can have his eggs hatched there and thus save the labor of hatching the chicks. These chickens can be reared with hens, or a stove brooder which will cover from 200 to 400 chicks may be used to good advantage, thereby saving labor in feeding and caring for the chicks and still allowing the young chickens free range. By the use of these commercial hatcheries all the chickens can be hatched at one time and the chicks can be brought out early in the spring, at which time it is most profitable to hatch and raise chickens.

WATCH FOR LICE ON CHICKS

Where Pests Are Found Make Application of Small Amount of Lard—Provide Shade.

Watch for head lice on chicks; if found grease the head of each chick with a small amount of lard. Do not use salt with the lard, as often advised. Allow plenty of shade, as the hot sun's rays are often fatal to freshly greased chicks.

PROPER FEEDING IN SUMMER

Not Advisable to Give Too Rich Food During Extremely Hot Days—Not Easily Handled.

It is best not to feed too heavily, or of too rich food, during the extremely hot days which are experienced occasionally in summer because overloaded digestive systems cannot handle the food as well in the extreme heat.

MOONLIGHT SCHOOLS.

A moonlight school taught by Miss Shuff and Mrs. Mary Barbour, will begin Monday night, Oct. 27, at 8 o'clock, at Hickman College. All boys and girls over 14 who can not possibly come to the day school together with all men and women who would like a review or more instruction are invited and urged to come and enroll.

The primary reason for having this night school is of course to get the person who for some reason or another has failed to get any education or at most very little, interested enough in himself to take this six weeks' course which will mean more to him than he can now possibly realize and you people who read this article please appoint yourselves a committee of one to try to get some one of this group of people into this school because the most difficult task in regard to this work is finding out just who these people are and getting them out. Let all men who have workmen under them make inquiry about this and use their influence to get these people out to this school where the teachers are gladly giving their services and more than anxious to aid all those that will give them the chance to do so. Please remember that the person who can not read can not get any appeal or announcement made through the paper but must be talked with personally, so you can readily see what your personal service will mean to the cause. Nor should these people allow the fact of hard work through the day to interfere with their taking advantage of this opportunity, for all these teachers who will give their services gladly, have worked just as hard and in fact harder when you consider the nerve-racking task that is theirs through the day. One of these teachers has 91 little beginning children to work with through the day, another has the difficult problem of the 7th grade, yet they are anxious to be of service to their fellowmen and through them to their town, county and state, and if you people of education have the right kind of civic pride in regard to your community you will take advantage of this opportunity to serve your more unfortunate neighbor, who can not read his paper, his Bible, nor any other important literature that might fall into his hands, nor even write to his nearest loved one, by using your influence to get him into regular attendance at the night school either at Hickman College or the school at West Hickman, which will start Monday night, Oct. 27.

This is a state-wide movement and many counties are endeavoring to do all in their power to raise their rank in education by demanding regular day school attendance and interesting grown people in taking advantage of the golden opportunity offered them in these Moonlight schools.

How Mat Cohen Spends Your MoneyFacts for the Taxpayers of Kentucky

Mat S. Cohen, Commissioner of Agriculture and Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, employs more people in his department and spends more money than any other three combined departments of the State government. It is very important to the taxpayers, especially the farmers, how this money is spent.

In three years, Cohen's personal traveling expenses, which you taxpayers pay, have piled up to a total of $4,153.93, an average of $1,384.04 per year. In 1917 he charged you taxpayers $5.00 per day for ten days for attending the State Fair in addition to railroad fare and a hotel and taxicab bill of more than $100.00. Does anybody pay you to visit the State Fair?

Vouchers on file in the Auditor's office at Frankfort show what Cohen has been doing with your money. Below are a few samples of the extravagance of this man Cohen who, four years ago, solemnly promised you taxpayers to spend your money carefully and economically:

COHEN CHARGES YOU EXTRA FOR DOING HIS JOB

The minute Cohen was elected to office he got the state legislature to raise his salary, but the legal department of the state ruled he could not have it. As Commissioner of Agriculture, Cohen is a member of all the boards in his department and his duty is to attend their meetings regularly as a part of the work for which you taxpayers pay him a salary. But Cohen charged you from $5.00 to $10.00 a day for attending meetings of various boards. The total you paid him for this was $620.00 for 83 days, an average of $7.44 per day. Easy money for answering "Here" at roll call.

Cohen was paid $100.00 upon the order of the Veterinary Examiners' Board and it was charged to the Veterinary License Fund. The Attorney General ruled the claim was illegal.

Certain clerks in Cohen's department draw money in addition to their salaries. One was paid $33.00 a meeting for attending four meetings of the Live Stock Sanitary Board. She draws a regular salary of $2,100.00 a year which you taxpayers pay. Can you beat it?

Another clerk gets a salary of $1,200.00 a year and in addition she is paid an extra $400.00 as clerk of the State Board of Veterinary Examiners. Pretty soft.

WHAT'S IN THE STATE FAIR BOOKS?

On Oct. 6, the Republican State Campaign Committee asked the privilege of having the State Fair Books examined by certified public accountants. Cohen at first consented, but later denied the privilege. When threatened with a law suit, he said he would submit the request to a meeting of the State Board of Agriculture, Oct. 25, a few days before the election

LIVE STOCK

SPECIALIZE IN FEEDER HOGS

One Hundred Carloads of Cholera-Free Animals Shipped Annually From South Dakota.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Feeder hogs, perfect as to specification and designed to satisfy the most discriminating purchaser, are exported annually from the Belle Fourche reclamation project, South Dakota. Approximately 100 carloads of cholera-free and alfalfa-raised porkers are shipped each season. The output for the last few years has been purchased by Nebraska farmers who fatten and condition the hogs for the central markets. A special advantage about such shipments is that the animals need not be held in quarantine while vaccinated to satisfy the requirements of interstate shipment, and the purchaser does not have to bear added expenses, such as yardage and feed costs, which he would have to pay if he bought his stock hogs on the central market.

The Belle Fourche project was recently declared free from cholera by the state live stock sanitary board. The hog growers of that section have decided it is most profitable for them to produce feeder hogs because the high price and limited quantity of corn in their vicinity available for feeding purposes make the fattening of hogs a hazardous undertaking. On the other hand, alfalfa hay is grown in abundance, and the pasture afforded is keenly relished by the hogs. Hence the project farmers are limiting their operations to feeder-hog production.

A co-operative live stock shipping association has been organized on the Belle Fourche project to market the hogs in unique fashion this fall. The plan is to secure carload orders for these hogs so that they may be shipped out in small train loads for delivery to points east of the Missouri river. The idea is to have about fifteen cars of hogs in each train, these cars being loaded at Newell and Nisland on the project and to be carried to destination, without stopping for feed or water, within the 36-hour limit. Information is being promulgated among the prospective buyers along the route regarding the freight rates on a minimum car of feeder hogs so that they can estimate accurately the gross cost of such a load of quality feeders delivered at their destination. The hogs sold during the fall of 1918 ranged from 16 to 21 cents a pound f. o. b. cars, some of the loads being sold above the market quotation and some of them under.

The Belle Fourche plan of marketing feeder hogs should be of interest to other stock raisers and feeders in various sections of the country, illustrating, as it does, a new method of feeder-animal distribution. Handling through a co-operative shipping association directly from the producer to the purchaser makes it certain that the buyer will receive the hogs at his station at a minimum cost for handling in transit. Furthermore, the fact that the animals come from a cholera-free country is positive insurance against losses from that disease, if the hogs are not exposed to infection in transit or subsequent to their delivery at their new homes. Prospects are that in the future many South Dakota farmers in the eastern part of the state who raise considerable corn and make a practice of feeding the grain to hogs will rely to a certain extent on the animals coming from the Belle Fourche project.

KEEP BEEF CALVES GROWING

Ensilage, If Available, Is Best and Cheapest Feed When Pastures Have Become Short.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Beef calves on pasture should be kept in a thrifty, growing condition. If the pasture becomes short the cows should be fed, otherwise the development of the calves may be checked. Ensilage, if available, is the cheapest and best feed. Good hay is an excellent supplementary feed, and cows, even on a fairly good pasture, seem to relish a small quantity of dry feed. Soy beans, cowpeas, or other pasture crops may be used. If it is not practicable to supply supplementary feeds to the cows the calves should be fed a little grain. This can be done easily by placing a small quantity in a creep in the pasture. A mixture of one-third corn, one-third oats, and one-third bran by weight is a good feed for this purpose.
